Corporate Membership ($880/year)

This level is suitable for outstanding and reputable companies, groups/organizations within the industry, including well-known accounting firms, accounting groups/organizations such as CA, CPA, etc. or non-accounting companies that support the development of Chinese people in Australia and align with ACAA's mission and vision. The company must be a legally registered enterprise and comply with relevant Australian laws, regulations, and industry standards. Applicants for corporate membership must provide relevant documentation, such as a business license. After passing the ACAA's review, they can become corporate members. Corporate members will enjoy the following benefits:

- Access to all ACAA-hosted professional events at member prices, including business seminars and cultural activities.
- The ability to designate up to 2 employees to become free premium members (subject to individual membership criteria).
- Access to business information, market research, and other resources provided by ACAA.
- Opportunities to establish connections with other member companies and expand business cooperation.
- Free access to ACAA's accounting internship referrals.
- Enhanced company brand and image and established good reputation in the Chinese community and Australian business community.
